LAST PEP RALLY FRIDAY NIGHT

HAWAII-TOWN GAME TO BE REAL FIGHT

VARSITY READY TO MEET TOWN TEAM SATURDAY

This will be the last game the Varsity plays before her real big fight of the season—the game with Pomona on Christmas day. Our men are straining every nerve to make the game on Saturday their best yet.

"Our men are in the pink of condition, and barring accidents during the coming week every man will go on the field in the best of shape to do his 'daindest,'" says Coach Klum.

"The men are working hard and will give a good account of themselves next Saturday," stated Captain Jacobson.

"Scotty" Schuman, manager of the Town Team, predicting a victory for his team, said: "We'll have in our lineup against the University, stars who have played very little this season; I refer to such men as Gilman, Jack Hjorth and 'Bill' Thompson. These men will be a valuable addition to our lineup. We want to get revenge; the University of Hawaii has beaten us several years, so we are out for blood."

Scotty states that his men are in fine physical condition. Due to the fact that all the men on his team are working, regular practice is hard to get. "If we had three hours practice every day, the other teams in the league wouldn't have a look-in with my men," said Schuman.

The Town Team was started in 1913. The team has played every year since then, with the exception of 1915-1916.

The average weight of this year's Town team line is about 185 pounds, the backfield being about 165.

With such men as Gilman, ex-Harvard and All-American tackle, Herman Clarke, Kamehameha star, Centelo, another Kamehameha star, Kay of University of Utah, and of University of Washington, Captain O'Sullivan, formerly of Outriggers, "Scotty" Schuman has a dangerous combination to meet the Varsity next Saturday.

COUNCIL ASKS APPROVAL OF STUDENT BODY

RECOMMENDATIONS AND NEW RULES ARE UP FOR RATIFICATION

The Student Council, the executive body for enforcing the rules and regulations of the Honor system, makes the following recommendations to the student body for ratification:

1. The Student Council shall have as one of its duties the conducting of an educational campaign each year for the purpose of educating the incoming freshmen to the Honor system, which campaign shall be conducted through the Frosh Bible, Ka Leo o Hawaii, the assembly meetings or any combination of these or other means that it may be possible to use.

2. The sentences of the Student Council imposed on violators of the Honor rules be published, taking care not to disclose the names or classes of the students affected.

3. The Honor system should be extended to include themes, except in the cases where the instructors do not mind if help is obtained, in which cases the instructors will specify that the pledge need not be affixed to the theme.

4. That the Student Council be empowered to consider cases of dishonesty on the campus, such as where a student takes something which does not belong to him.

The Student Council has found it necessary to make certain rules and perform certain duties not considered at the time this body was created.

1. The chairman shall be a senior who served on the Council during his junior year, which necessitates having at least one senior and one junior on the Council all the time.

2. The officers of the Student Council shall be a chairman and secretary, which officers shall discharge the duties usually connected with their respective offices.

3. The Student Council shall reach a decision by a majority vote.

4. The regular elections of members of the Student Council for the ensuing year shall take place in May. Special elections shall be held whenever vacancies occur in the Council. These elections shall be held separate from, though perhaps at the same time as, the A.S.U.H. elections. Membership in the A.S.U.H. shall not be considered a requisite for voting in the Student Council elections.

5. The Student Council shall make nominations for its members for the ensuing year and for any vacancies which may occur. Additional nominations may be made by submitting to the chairman of the Council a petition bearing the name of a candidate and the signatures of ten students. These nominations shall be printed in Ka Leo o Hawaii at least once, and shall be posted on the bulletin board or other conspicuous place for at least seven days before the election.

6. The Council shall be responsible for and the judge of its own elections.

"BRING YOUR VOICE AND SOMETHING TO MAKE NOISE" REQUEST OF YELL LEADER

TWO SILVER CUP PRIZES OFFERED

(By Y. GOTO.)

NOISE! NOISE! NOISE!

"NOISE" is the motto of Friday night Pep Rally, to begin at 7:30 sharp on the front steps of Hawaii Hall, the last and combined Hawaii-Town Team and Hawaii-Pomona games' rally. Dyfrig Forbes, when interviewed, stated that the committee in charge has been working hard during the last few days to make this the best one ever pulled off on the campus, with speeches, yells, songs and stunts forming a snappy and interesting program of the evening.

A fine college spirit was displayed by the students in the Varsity-Navy game. Every student was on the field to back the University team. The Star-Bulletin in its editorial column the following Monday praised the attitude of University students; twice did the Honolulu Advertiser comment upon University spirit by saying, "University was for once solidly behind the team."

YOUR LAST CHANCE TO HELP

The United Welfare campaign closes today.

All contributions will be received by Miss Hemenway and forwarded to the campaign headquarters.

$301.50—raised at the University Monday.

Students Give $521 To Friendship Fund

A sum of $521 has been raised by the students of the University, McKinley High School, Punahou Academy and Mills High School for the Student Friendship Fund, the campaign for which was carried on last week, according to reports received at the office of the University Y.M.C.A.

The University teams came first in the amount raised with $190, while McKinley, collecting $156, came second. Punahou and Mills gave $130 and $45 respectively. Reports from Hilo, Maui, and Kauai high schools have not yet been received.

At the University 12 teams were organized for the drive. Team 7, captained by Doris Mossman, captured the first honor, with $36.25 raised, while Team 10, under Ruth Yap, came second with $30.75. Team 4, headed by Addison Kinney, was third in the list with $19.85.

LITERARY SOCIETY TO MEET FRIDAY, DEC. 8

Friday, at 12:00 m. in the Math Room, the Literary society will hold its last regular meeting of the term. Important business matters will be brought up for discussion, and all members are expected to be present.

Students, here is another chance for you to establish your reputation. Every loyal and patriotic student of Hawaii should come Friday evening to give a hearty "send-off" to our Varsity warriors who will be on the field to protect our honor on Saturday. Seven cheers to the ladies who bring themselves and their friends to the pep rally Friday night! Eleven cheers to the men who bring themselves and their belles!

"Bring your voice and something to make noise," is the first and last request of our yell leader, Dyfrig Forbes. Every student must bring something to make noise, some old "junk," empty kerosene oil can, automobile horn, or anything that will make noise. Don't forget these requirements—to bring your voice and something to make noise.

Two silver cups will be presented as prizes to those who produce the "noisiest" noise, and to those who put up the funniest stunt that evening.

Besides bringing yourself, your belle and beau, your voice and something to make noise, bring your sisters, brothers, parents and friends.

Invitations have been sent to all local high schools, inviting the students to attend the rally.

Several University organizations will be represented at the rally. The famous "multi-noisy" Boiler-Maker's Union has taken a solemn vow to capture the silver cup by presenting the "noisiest" stunt that evening. Hui Lokahi, Y.M.C.A., and several other organizations are planning to put interesting stunts.

Co-eds! Don't forget them! They are the "salts" of University! Of course everybody is expecting to see them play football game. "We shall be discouraged," grinned a student, "if the co-eds fail to play a football game."

Kamehameha Glee Club will sing several selections. St. Louis and University orchestras will fill the air with lively musical numbers.

Speakers of the evening are Dr. A. L. Dean, Mr. A. L. Castle, and Governor W. R. Farrington.

Original Rules of Honor System Given

The following are the rules adopted by the Student Council Nov. 30, 1921, for the conduct of examinations:

All examinations or other written work done in class which counts for more than a recitation shall come under the following rules:

1. At the end of each paper the student shall write and sign the following pledge: "I have neither given nor received aid during this examination." Signature.

2. No paper which does not bear this pledge shall be graded by the instructor. Any student passing in a paper without the pledge will be given the opportunity by the instructor to add it, and if he does so the paper will then be graded as if it had been originally received complete. If the student does not add the pledge the paper will be discarded and the student marked absent from the examination.

3. Instructors shall not consider it necessary to be present during examinations except to give out paper and answer questions. Students are expected to remain in the examination room while writing their papers, unless specific permission to do otherwise has been granted by the instructor. They may leave the room during the examination if necessary, but all unnecessary passing or noise will be avoided to the end that all members of the class may be able to concentrate on the examination. Communication with one another is not forbidden, except on the matter of the examination, but for the reason indicated above, will not be indulged in except when quite necessary. If audible it is distracting; if inaudible it raises questions in the minds of other members of the class.

4. Any student or instructor who has reason to believe that any student has given or received aid during an examination, shall report the same in writing to the Student Council, stating briefly the nature of the evidence he is prepared to give. If the Council deems the charges worthy of consideration, it will notify the student against whom charges are preferred and request a written statement in answer, which may be supplemented, at the discretion of the Council, by a personal appearance before it. If the Council finds a presumption of guilt, it shall notify the parties, instructing them to attend at a designated time and place, and shall then and there hear all the evidence on both sides. The Council shall determine the question of guilt, the punishment to be inflicted, but may call for a second hearing before passing such judgment if there is reason to believe that the evidence is incomplete.

The charges and the hearings shall not be published. It shall be the policy of all concerned to cast no suspicion on the honesty of any student until his case has been heard and he has been proven dishonest.

5. It is expected that all members of the University will cooperate in the observance and enforcement of these rules.

President Dean Returns From Tour of Orient

Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Dean, who left for Japan about a month ago, will be back in Honolulu this Friday by the President Cleveland.

Dr. Jordan, president emeritus of Stanford University, who also visited Japan, is expected to accompany Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Dean.

While in Japan President Dean gave lectures at the Tokyo Imperial University and other institutions of learning on the chaulmoogra oil specific, the wonder cure for leprosy. He was invited by the American Japanese Relations Committee of Tokyo. In Tokio President and Mrs. Dean were guests of Viscount Shibuzawa.

Many Attend Hui Lokahi "Hard Times" Party

The "Hard Times" dance given under the auspices of the Hui Lokahi last Wednesday evening was voted as a success by all those who attended.

Clever decorations of stripped movie billboard signs, original costumes and other novelties added much to make the atmosphere of the evening an enjoyable one. No one could refrain from dancing to the mazy strains of Harvey's orchestra, and much sport was made of the "lucky spot" dances. Dorothy Ruttman and Walter Short received prizes for their originality in the way of appropriate costumes.

Hui Lokahi, considering the success of the evening, hopes to give other similar entertainments in the future.

GOTO GIVES SOME ADVICE TO "STUDIOUS PERP"

To the Studious Perp:

You have expressed your desire to acquire a collegiate education. I have great sympathy for your ambition and wish you success. But listen to me, my friend. Although you can boast of your wonderfully developed trigonum olfactorum, I am sorry to say that the tela choroidea ventriculi tertii portion of your brain differs from that of ours and eventually your brain is not suitable for a collegiate education. Therefore, do some thinking and give up this idea of attending the University of Hawaii.

Of course, you will eventually receive bachelor's degree if you should remain here longer for you shall never succeed in locating a student who cares to marry "DOG."

I don't mind if you attend classes and remain silent, but the moment you howl and bark, you hurt my feelings and everyone else's. Comprenez-vous that you disturb us whenever you start your monotonous oration? We are here to study, ambitious friend! Please don't bark next time.

Well, old "doggy," if you do not behave like a college student, we must ask you to leave this institution.

Yours truly, Y. GOTO.

BEAUTIFUL WINTER

The weather is down below freezing, I hate like the deuce to get up; I stand on the floor of my bedroom And shake like a Pekinese pup.

I pull on my shoes and my stockings, with hands fairly numb with the cold. Ice forms on my face while I'm shoving, My knocking knees can't be controlled.

When I get on the street car it's crowded With students who look nearly froze, Around me I hear them all shouting, "Keep off my frost-bitten toes."

Next year I will go to a college In Hawaii where the warm breezes blow, Where Jack Frost is only a stranger And the hills are not covered with snow.

How About Placing a White "H" on Hillside?

Wouldn't it be grand for our University of Hawaii to have a big "H" on the hill east of the campus?

Dr. Romanzo Adams of the department of economics and sociology thinks that we should have one. He believes that the letter should be large enough for the people on the steamers to be able to see as they sail along the Waikiki beach toward Honolulu harbor.

"The campus buildings are too low and cannot be easily seen from afar, but if a big "H" is put up on the hillside, it would help to give us more publicity," says Prof. Adams. "The letter should be in white. Collect stones and paint the visible parts. The bushes on the hillside can furnish the green, and if necessary, more greens can be planted. The department of engineering could lay off the letter to make it appear right at a distance."

At the University of Nevada, where Dr. Adams was teaching prior to his arrival here, the students have a big "N" day, which is an annual affair. A special program is arranged for the occasion, and they end the day's celebration by white-washing the letter anew.

In Berkeley, before the football game, the Stanford people used to invade the U. C. campus under cover of night, and paint their own color—cardinal. This kept the Berkeley bears busy and on their alert to defend themselves.

"Putting up the letter H on the Manoa hillside, just back of the University campus, would, no doubt, stir more interest and enthusiasm for the institution. Of course, there are no such rivalry as in Berkeley, but the Pomona grid men may make an attempt to paint our letter—if we had one, when they come here for the Christmas game. Who knows?"

with fumes and poisonous gases, but ye shall seek the hood immediately.

7. Thou shalt not commit adulteration of the reagents or of thy determinations, ere great disaster fall upon thee.

8. Thou shalt not steal thy neighbor's test tube or his beaker.

9. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor, saying, "these are his solutions which fume voluminously."

10. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbors results for he did procure them at great expense of labor.

Data Throw Light on Pacific Pottery

(By Prof. M. Chipman.)

The question is often asked "Did the ancient Polynesian know anything about making bowls or other utensils of clay?"

Some recent discoveries in Guam have re-awakened an interest in the general subject of pottery in the Pacific.

In answer to a request for information, some data have been contributed by Dr. Handy of the Bishop Museum and Professor Palmer from the geological point of view.

It seems that very little is known about pottery in the Pacific Islands, but sufficient to warrant a few general statements.

In many of the Pacific islands no finds of pottery have been so far made. This is true of Australia, of most of Micronesia and Polynesia, except for the recent discoveries in Guam and the few potsherds found in Tonga by men of the Bishop Museum party of 1920-21.

In the Melanesian islands, inhabited by curly-haired people much darker than the Polynesians, and in New Guinea, pottery was made in ancient times and the art still continues. Among the islands where pottery has been discovered are New Guinea, Fiji, New Caledonia, New Hebrides and parts of the Philippines. The pottery of the Solomon Islands is of the incised type of decoration. That of New Guinea and Caroline Islands is unglazed, decoration unknown.

In Fiji and other Melanesian islands, Borneo and in parts of the Philippines resin-glazed pottery has been and is still made.

It should be noted that wherever baked clay utensils are found in the Pacific they have been moulded by hand, the potter's wheel being unknown. In the Bishop Museum may be found several good examples of the resin-glazed type from Fiji, New Caledonia, and the New Hebrides. These bowls are dark red brown in color and have been decorated by incising crudely before the resin was put on.

The lack of the potter's craft in Hawaii is explained by what Professor Palmer has to say about the composition of the soil, namely, that "Clay suitable for bricks or pottery consists essentially of kaolin, which is derived from the decomposition of rocks that are rich in silica." Hawaiian soils are made chiefly of the decomposition of basaltic lava and are low in silica. Aluminum oxide and iron oxide, the principal constituents of Hawaiian soils are very refractory, which, with the great shrinkage, makes them unsuited for brick or pottery making."

NAME WANTED FOR DORMITORY

The Women's Dormitory wants a name.

The girls who are staying there now do not feel that "Girls' Dorm" quite expresses the individuality or the personality of the building. It will have to be a mighty good name to express this, as the dormitory is to be brightened up from without with gay window boxes, ferns, and hanging baskets.

Miss Drummond will be at home to friends on Wednesday afternoon, and hopes that you will drop in to see the girls!

"Dodo" Mossman Makes Special Investigation of Marine Animals

How high or how low temperatures can the animals of the shallow waters of the reefs about our islands endure is a question that Doris Mossman '24 is undertaking to determine in a series of experiments at the University Biological laboratory at Waikiki.

It has been pointed out by other investigators that animals of the tropics live within a few degrees of their maximum and minimum endurance temperatures, that is, if the temperature is raised a few degrees above the normal of the water in which they live, the tissues of the body enter into heat rigor and the animal dies, likewise by lowering the temperature below a few degrees below the normal, cold rigor sets in and the animal succumbs. In colder zones this range of temperature endurance is much greater, marine animals being able to stand much higher or lower temperatures than similar or related forms in the tropics.

Doris Mossman finds that species of marine animals which live near the shore where the water is but a few inches deep at low tides and where the variation of temperature must be greater than in deeper water farther out on the reef, exhibit a greater range of temperature endurance than those species which habitually live in the deeper water.

A goodly number of species of crustaceans, corals and other common animals of the reef are being tested for their endurance temperature and charts of their high and low death points are being prepared from which comparisons between different species can be drawn.

Temperatures of the water in a given locality on the reef near the laboratory has been taken almost daily for a year. The variation for the year is slight, averaging around 27 deg. C.

Reef organisms thus far tested do not, as a rule, survive temperatures above 43 deg. C., there being, however, a certain amount of variation depending upon the species and its normal habitat on the reef. On the other hand, most of the species tested will not survive temperatures reduced below 5 deg. C.

Experiments with corals will be carried on to show the influence of sunlight, sediment, reduced salinity, etc., upon their growth and endurance.

Why Go to College? Is Topic to be Discussed at Student Conference

Why do you go to college? Parental power, practical persuasion, or—?

What do you want to be like when you leave college, or don't you care so long as you have a certain amount of useful information?

Who decides what shall be taught at your college?

Why do liberal clubs think it necessary to bring to the colleges speakers whose point of view is not ordinarily presented by the faculty?

PROBLEM

If 130 credits = 1 B.A., + 30 credits = 1 M.A., + 70 credits = 1 Ph.D., how many credits will = 1 intelligent man?

How is it that you can go to college when so many other men and women can't?

Are you taking somebody else's education away from him?

Do you owe anything to the uneducated?

PROBLEM

If you get $25.00 a week for working and not expressing your ideals, and $300.00 a week if you work and express your ideals, what are your ideals worth?

These and other questions will be discussed at a conference held under the auspices of the National Student Forum during the Christmas vacation on December 26, 27, and 28th, in the vicinity of New York City. These questions center about two main topics:

1. Why is college what it is?
2. What are our responsibilities as students?

The six foreign students whom the National Student Forum is bringing to the United States will be present. It will be their first meeting with an American group of friends. There will also be several recent graduates who will discuss the possible courses for socially minded students leaving college. But there will be no big speakers. It will be a conference of students for students and will concern the vital issues of the student's life.

U. H. CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT RENDERS WIDE SERVICE

That the Chemistry department of the University is rendering a world-wide service can be seen from the amount of chaulmoogra oil specific, leprosy cure, sent out each month from that department. Over ten shipments, of half-liters, are exported monthly.

The recipients of these shipments, in the order of their importance, are: Kalihi Station, Kalaupapa Settlement on Molokai, the Leper Asylum of Porto Rico, Virgin Islands, and Louisiana.

The Chemistry department has also shipped cases of this oil specific to Tahiti, Argentina, Brazil, Venezuela, Norway, and even to South Africa and the Portuguese Indies.

BOARD OF CONTROL

Henry Bindt '23 Prof. D. L. Crawford Herbert Cullen '23

EDITORIAL

Hawaii must win that Varsity-Town Team game this Saturday. Our men are going to fight hard. Let us all go out and yell for them.

Welcome

Ka Leo welcomes President and Mrs. Dean, who are returning on the S. S. President Cleveland. We hope their long journey has been one of enjoyment as well as one of service.

Notices on the Bulletin Board

Ka Leo observes that often a large number of the notices on the bulletin board and in the hall are of no more value. These dead notices detract so seriously from the live ones that there seems to be a general tendency to ignore the bulletin board altogether.

We suggest that the A. S. U. H. pass a resolution at its next meeting, requesting all students who post notices to sign them. If these notices are not removed when they have served their purpose, the signatures they bear will testify to the whole student body that those who posted them are careless.

Perhaps the A. S. U. H. should have a bulletin board officer, possibly the secretary, to see that unsigned notices are taken down and that people who have useless notices posted are reminded to vacate the bulletin board.

Enlarged Powers

Adopting the recommendations of the Student Council will, obviously give that body enlarged powers.

Self-explanatory is the first recommendation, whose importance is unquestioned, because the incoming freshmen will need to be made familiar with the Honor System.

Perhaps the second seems to conflict with the rules adopted Nov. 30, 1921, but the Council believes this is not the case. The purpose of this provision is to show that the Student Council is effective in dealing with any instances of dishonesty. Merely to say that certain students were deprived of so many credits, or something to that effect, remaining silent as to their names and classes, would cast suspicion on no one, which is maintaining absolutely the spirit of the Honor System. At the same time, publishing such statements would show that the Honor System is successful in detecting and punishing dishonesty.

Originally themes were not included in the jurisdiction of the Student Council, because it was felt that this body would find too much difficulty in determining the question of guilt. However, there is no reason to believe they would experience greater hardship than the faculty, and as long as the Honor System has been adopted, it may as well be accepted in its entirety. Also, many students have felt that with certain kinds of themes, it was quite permissible to get help; hence the clause that if the instructors did not object to the students' getting help, the instructors were to say the pledge need not be affixed.

Discovering he culprit in the case of theft, or any other form of dishonesty on the campus, as would be the duty of the Student Council under the fourth recommendation, probably would be more difficult than discovering dishonesty in an examination. This much is certain: it would not be more difficult for the Student Council to find the culprit than it is for any existing means of so doing. On the other hand, there are good arguments for giving this duty to the Council. Among them are: The Honor System should not stop at the door of the class room but should obtain everywhere on the campus. The students would have the cooperation of the faculty in this work while at present the faculty do not have the cooperation of the students, which circumstance argues forcibly for the change. Finally, and most important, when it is up to the students to deal with such cases of dishonesty, they will use their influence to prevent them from arising.
